

Innovation and Sustainable Development in Agriculture and Food Symposium (ISDA 2010)

PERSPECTIVES

The Symposium will be held from June 28 to July 1.

Expected diffusion:

Papers will be published on a CD-Rom which will be distributed during the conference and then posted on-line as the conference proceedings.

For each session, agreements will be engaged to publish special issues in international journals (English-, French- and Spanish-language journals).

A special book will be published to present a global view of issues dealing with innovation and sustainable development, including key note lectures and the syntheses of round tables and parallel workshops.

We will invite representatives of the general press as well as of professional reviews dealing with political issues or with advisory and support services. The results of the symposium will also be used in training workshops and research schools to feed reflection on research methods and practices in Northern and Southern countries.
