

Ad hoc support

Nitrogen2016

ABSTRACT

Support for the organisation of the 3rd International Symposium on Plant Nitrogen Nutrition. The event will be split into 7 or 8 sessions dealing with the main aspects of plant nitrogen nutrition (transport, metabolism, distribution, signalling, genomics, interactions with other nutrients and signals, bacterial and fungal systems and use efficiency, ecophysiology and agroecology + NSF funded session to be confirmed) and will revolve around a large number of species and a wide range of approaches.

The objectives of the conference are to

- Present the scientific advances since Nitrogen 2013
- To enable exchange and discussion within the scientific community gathered for the event
- Provide an opportunity for young scientists to present their work
- To promote exchanges between the local and international scientific community
